

Ramona Bryson

Ramona is at heart an Island Girl. She is the youngest of five children, raised on the beautiful island of St. Croix by her Mom. Her Mom taught her to always stick with whatever she attempted because where there is a will, there is a way. Following her mother's guidance, Ramona excelled at school and at sports, completing high school at the age of 16.

Ramona left St. Croix to attend college and completed her undergraduate studies at Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. She achieved dual Bachelor of Science degrees in computer science and mathematics while being a student athlete playing basketball, volleyball, tennis and running track. By the age of 22, she obtained her Master of Science degree in systems engineering with a specialization in software engineering and communications from the University of Maryland in College Park, Maryland.

Ramona is CEO and Founder of Ten to the Sixth, Inc. She is an inspirational catalyst for her clients to execute on their life passion. She started her professional career at AT&T and has consulted at other companies such as MCIWorldCom, Cingular Wireless, InComm, and Cox Communications to name a few. She is a Certified Project Management Professional (PMP®) and a skilled expert with over 25 years of experience in all phases of the Project Management and Software Development Life Cycle. She has over 10 years of direct staff management experience being successful at formulating effective long-term strategies and tactical plans to deliver mission-critical business initiatives while streamlining systems and processes to improve efficiency and productivity, reduce costs and enhance quality. She effectively communicates and delivers presentations to all levels of management up to and including executive level. Ramona is an excellent team leader with the ability to influence and produce results in any organization.

Ramona is a co-author of A Mom and Her 3 Kids: Partnership Parenting - How I Raised My Kids and My Kids Raised Me (available on Amazon). The unique parenting book shares advice on parenting Ramona received from her children. She lives in the Atlanta metro area and enjoys being a mom. Since God never gives you more than you can handle, she knows God gave her the best children ever. She is very active as a Fitness Coach, inspiring others to be in the best shape of their lives and enjoys training Capoeira.
